

6.6 Which site-specific default NO_x emission rates are used for reporting ?

Once the necessary emission test data or CEMS data for each type of fuel combusted in the unit have been obtained, as described in Section 6.1.4, above, the site-specific default NO_x emission rate(s) that will be used for Part 75 reporting are determined as follows: